Special Despatch to The New York Herald.

CLINTON, N. Y., Oct. 8.—An exceptionally interesting and instructive meeting of the New York State Historical Association was held at Lake George, Oct. 7, 8 and 9. This was a "home-coming," as the organization, on a statewide basis, was formed there in 1898. The attendance of about 250 was somewhat less than expected, because of rain most of Monday throughout central and northern New York, from which many of the delegates came, but with the opening session at the Port William Hotel on the evening of the 7th clear weather came, and it remained to the end, giving the delegates a bright sunshine for the outdoor events.

In the absence of the president of the association, George A. Blauvelt of Monsey, Rockland county, who was detained by illness, the first vice-president, Gilbert E. B. Hasbrouck of Kingston, presided at all the sessions. Subsequently Justice Hasbrouck was elected president for the ensuing term of two years.

The Rev. William Martin Beuchamp, S. T. D., of Syracuse, authority on Iroquois Indian history, offered the opening prayer. His words were warmly received, and he was followed by the Rev. Dr. J. H. D. Secretary of the Buffalo Historical Society, an authority on the Niagara frontier.

Dr. Taylor's Address.

President Robert Bruce Taylor, D. D., of Queens University, Kingston, Ont., who said in opening that a large part of the ten years he had been in America were spent fighting with the Canadians in France, gave the first address on "Our Canadian-American Relations." This bristled with excellent observations, best summarized by saying that while the United States, Great Britain and Canada have been at odds in general terms, and minor and incidental points, they could always be depended upon to agree and cooperate on the major and essential points. President Taylor was well received and was given an ovation at the close.

Mrs. Charlotte A. Pitcher of Utica followed with an "Historical Pilgrimage in the Champlain Valley," recounting military expeditions through the Lake George and Lake Champlain country in the French and Indian and Revolutionary wars, describing the scenery in general terms and referring to the progress being made by the New York State Historical Association and local societies in maintaining the points of interest, increasing numbers of summer visitors, especially from outside the State. The last paper of the evening was on "Conservation in New York State," prepared by Mr. J. H. D. Secretary of the Buffalo Historical Society, but read in his absence by William G. Howard, his assistant at Albany.

On Tuesday morning the association convened in its regular annual business meeting, at which time reports were read of the membership and finances, both of which were encouraging, and showed substantial growth within the last year, particularly in life memberships. Several vacancies were filled in the Board of Trustees, the most notable addition being that of George D. Pratt, former Conservation Commissioner, in place of Charles Mason Dow, L.L.D., of Jamestown, who died within the year. Mr. Pratt, who has been on the Hudson as the executive of a new term. Reports were received from the Lake George and Crown Point associations, already maintained under the auspices of the association, and there considered for undertaking similar improvements and supervision of the Bennington battle ground, which is entirely within New York State, although the better known Bennington Battle Monument is just across the Interstate line in Vermont.

Following the business meeting was the second session of the literary exercises, opened by a very able paper by Miss Amelia Day Campbell of New York, "Women of New York State in the Revolution," followed by a paper by Mr. J. H. D. Secretary of the Buffalo Historical Society, in charge of the Albany division in the State Library, Mr. Nelson's paper was illustrated by a specially prepared map and was an original contribution of value to the history of that region.

Bigelow Discusses Japan.

Pontney Bigelow, A. M., of Malden on the Hudson, the last speaker of the Tuesday morning session, had for his theme, "Japan," which he has visited five times, first as the result of a shipwreck off the Japanese coast. But Bigelow broadened his subject in various interesting lines in a way to keep the audience in good humor, and incidentally thinking hard all the time to follow him. For "pop" and wide range of sub-topics, this address was the outstanding feature of the day; and an appreciative audience warmly followed the speaker to take more than his allotted time.

On Tuesday afternoon, at 2:30, the delegates gathered on a spot between the shore of Lake George and the ruins of Fort George to dedicate an Indian statue presented by George D. Pratt, former Conservation Commissioner, to the New York State Historical Association. This heroic bronze, executed by A. P. Proctor and cast by the John Williams Foundry of New York, represents a brave croning to die who makes the Indians, the overlord of his hand in a dripping place for visitors in the absence of the donor, at present in Alaska, the presentation was made in his name by his brother, Frederick B. Pratt, L.L.D., of Brooklyn, and responded to in a fine historical address by Prof. Dixon R. Fox, Ph. D., of Columbia University.

Immediately after the dedication ceremonies at the Indian statue, the delegates were taken in visitors and local automobiles from Lake George southward through the Hudson valley to Hudson Falls to Port Edward, looking back to the French and Indian war, and the graves of Jane McCrea, who was murdered in 1777. The party then returned to its headquarters at the Port William Hotel.

Address on Public Service.

The final literary session on Tuesday evening opened with an address by Martin S. Becker, former Public Service Commissioner, on "Regulation of Public Service Corporations in New York State," with special reference to the historical development of this form of regulation in New York and other States. Paul D. Evans Ph. D., of Syracuse University gave an excellent talk on the "Administration of Land Companies in Southern and Western New York," with special reference to the extensive lands in the section of which Bath is now about the center owned by the Poulney and other British associates. Comments upon that theme were next made by Vice President Severance of Buffalo.

In the absence of Augustus H. Shearer Ph. D. of Buffalo his paper on "What History Associations Can Do" was read by Avery W. Skinner of the State Educational Department, Albany. This reviewed the rise and progress of historical associations mainly in America and the delegates outlined their opportunities for semi-public service and discussed methods to be pursued for best results. This very thoughtful, constructive paper was discussed by James Sullivan, Ph. D., State Historian, Albany.

Adjournment was taken until Wednesday morning, when the delegates were taken by automobile or boat up and around through Lake George to Ticonderoga, where they were entertained with an address of welcome and refreshments by Mr. and Mrs. Stephen H. P. Pell, a brief address on "Fort Ticonderoga," by Miss Helen Ives Higgins, M. A., of New York City, and the program of the delegates returned home by automobile, boat and train, as they found most convenient.

The officers of the association reported on this meeting as follows:

President, Gilbert E. B. Hasbrouck, Kingston; first vice-president, Frank H. Severance, Buffalo; second vice-president, James S. Kings, Ph. D., principal of the State Normal School, Oswego; corresponding secretary, James Sullivan, Ph. D., State Historian, Albany; recording secretary and treasurer, Frederick S. Richards, Glens Falls.

HARVARD TO EXCEED 6,000 ENROLMENT

Every Department but Two Shows an Increase Over Last Year.

Special Despatch to The New York Herald.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 8.—Harvard's total enrollment has reached 5,936, breaking all previous records, according to the first complete official figures available this year, and is likely to top the six thousand mark before the books are finally closed for the year. Every department of the university except two shows an increase in numbers over last year.

The college now has 3,473 men enrolled, the largest figure on record, the increase being largely due to the unprecedented size of the freshman class, which now consists of 881 men, of whom 773 were admitted by examination and 108 by transfer from other colleges. The largest sophomore class previously recorded contained 739 men. So crowded is the college that officials are having all they can do to find lecture rooms to hold all the classes, while scores of men have been unable to secure rooms in the Freshman halls.

The Graduate School of Arts and Sciences has 961 men registered, an increase of 37 over the enrollment at the same date last year, although not a record-breaking figure. The Business School has set a new mark with a total of 488 men. The Graduate School of Education, in its second year of existence, has increased its membership from 36 students to 130, the School of Architecture from 36 to 45, the Divinity School from 36 to 50, and the Bussey Institution, which gives advanced instruction in applied science, from 14 to 20.

More law students than ever before are enrolled, the total Law School registration having reached 987, as against 920 last year at the same time. There are 373 men in the first year class in law. The Medical School shows only a slight increase over last year owing to the limitation of the number of students necessary by limited facilities. It has 471 men as compared with 459 a year ago. The Engineering School, in its third year, has broken its last year's record by increasing its numbers from 408 to 415. There are 58 special students registered under the Faculty of Arts and Sciences. The only two departments which fall to show gains are the School of Theology, which has 23 students at present, as against 24 a year ago, and the Dental School. In the latter the first year class is far smaller than last year, owing to the effect of the entrance requirements. The Harvard Dental School, along with the dental departments of several other universities, now requires a year of college work, including biology, chemistry and physics, before entering the dental school. The enrollment figures officially given out for the entire university, 5,936, includes only students enrolled in the regular departments of the university. Official call attention to the fact that if Harvard added in the summer school enrollment, the total would run well above 6,000.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 8.—In the class of ninety-two girls entering Radcliffe College as freshmen the average age is eighteen years and eight months.
